About the Florida Climate Institute

The Florida Climate Institute (FCI) is a new joint venture between the University of Florida and the Florida State University.

The FCI is working to build a more sustainable future by improving our understanding of and identifying appropriate responses to climate variability and change. Research, teaching, and outreach programs of the FCI will help reduce climate risks to the economy, natural and managed ecosystems, and the built environment.

For more information about the FCI, visit
